Introducing the 2023-2024 Catalogue

While no one can predict the future,
there is one thing we can count on... change!

For most of us the pandemic brought changes to how we lived, played, stayed healthy, and worked. Overnight our needs and priorities shifted. Notably, one of the most dramatic shifts was in the workplace. Remote working emerged as the leading trend, made possible by today's advanced technology.

While banana bread and a more relaxed dress code may have made working from home more comforting initially, it was collaboration tools such as video conferencing and cyber security measures, that allowed us to stay connected and productive. We proved ourselves to be resilient, quickly adapting to the evolving landscape. Buzzwords such as WFH, pivot, unmute, and "is your audio on" became standard.

As the workplace continues to evolve so does our offering! We understand we all have very distinct needs and recognize there is no one-size-fits-all! This catalogue is the perfect example of that!

While this catalogue covers all the basics, we have put a continued emphasis on growing trends such as technology, hybrid work, education, health and safety, arts and crafts, and breakroom supplies.

And there's more! We are always sourcing new products, so be sure to check out our comprehensive online catalogue for the latest.

Work-Life Balance

WHAT IS A HEALTHY WORK-LIFE BALANCE?

A healthy work-life balance means you have harmony between the different aspects of your life. The benefits gained from each area can support and strengthen the others. It's not so much about splitting your time 50/50 between work and play but finding the balance that works best for you.

WHY DO YOU NEED WORK-LIFE BALANCE?

Work is generally good for our health and well-being. It provides routine, promotes relationships and a sense of community, and offers a sense of meaning and purpose. A small amount of stress, such as working to a deadline, can be helpful and lead to increased alertness and productivity. However, consistently working long hours without balancing it (even if you love what you do) with good health habits, such as proper rest and relaxation, can have a negative toll on your health.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN YOU CREATE BALANCE?

- With healthy habits your overall health and wellness will improve.
- You will have more time to nurture relationships with friends and family.
- Your quality of work will improve, and productivity will increase.
- You will be more enthusiastic and engaged at work, enjoying it more.
- You will have more time to pursue new interests.
- With better focus you will be able to think more creatively.
- You can be more mindful and attuned to your feelings and those of others.
- You will think more positively and be more aware of the good around you.
- Prioritizing and focusing on what is important to you enables you to create more success on your terms.

In a recent Canadian survey done by Leger, a Canadian-owned market research and analytics firm, almost 31% of respondents say they enjoy the improvements in their flexible work schedules and 26% say they enjoy an easy work-life balance. Interestingly, respondents who reported they have been more productive since the start of the pandemic, were more likely to have a water bottle on their desks at work (73%), participate in work-related activities (38%) and enjoy decorating their workspace with plants (34%). They also report a higher level of engagement to their work and to their employer.

Easy Ways to Add Balance to Your Workday

CREATE AN INTENTIONAL WORKSPACE

Prioritize an ergonomic set-up

Working in a space designed with ergonomics in mind can help lower bodily stress, make you more comfortable, improve productivity, and make you feel better!

Set the mood

Just like taking a walk on a nice sunny day, we know how natural lighting affects our mood and productivity. Lamps that offer different light modes will help reduce fatigue and eyestrain. Plants are natural mood lifters that add a visually meditative effect, leading us to being more productive and happier!

BUILD POSITIVE WORKPLACE RELATIONSHIPS

Supportive relationships have a positive effect on our well-being and impacts our personal happiness. They help keep us motivated, share in successes, and opportunities while boosting morale.

PRACTICE TIME MANAGEMENT

From setting goals to organizing your tasks tools such as apps and calendars can be helpful. Determine your priorities. If you have a long to-do list aim to complete 6 instead of 12 tasks, then you will be more motivated to achieve them. At the end of each day, set your priorities for the following day.

Try the 2-minute rule

The 2-minute rule suggests if you think a task can be done in 2 minutes or less, do it. If you are a procrastinator, the 2-minute rule is a helpful strategy that keeps small tasks from being added to your to-do list like a load of laundry that you put off doing. Using this strategy, you will find that almost every habit can be downsized into a two-minute version. For example, "Create a work presentation" becomes "Choosing fonts and titles". This will make bigger tasks more manageable and less challenging, leading you down a more productive path.

BE GOOD TO YOURSELF

Embrace vacations & breaks

Dedicated time off for the purpose of R&R is essential for our health and well-being. Breaks allow us to boost our energy reserves and when we feel rejuvenated and recharged, we are more productive.

The 20/20/20 rule

Computer eye strain can lead to dry eyes, blurry vision, and headaches. A good idea is to follow the 20/20/20 rule: every 20 minutes, look at something 20 feet away for 20 seconds.

Practice healthy habits

Maintain a regular sleep schedule. Choose healthy snacks like fruit and nuts. Keep a water bottle at your desk and move around every 30 minutes.

Breathe

Take a deep breath. It is a good way to relax and relieve stress.

The Hybrid Office

What is the hybrid workplace model?

It is a flexible workplace model designed to support both in-office and remote employees. While there is no one-size-fits-all approach, advances in technology have made working and collaborating seamlessly from anywhere possible, making this work model viable for both the company and the employees.

Why are companies shifting to hybrid work?

Emerging from the pandemic, both employees and employers are now looking toward the future. Employees are more likely to prioritize wellness and work flexibility. Supporting the hybrid work model appeals to prospective employees and helps companies retain current employees.

POPULAR HYBRID WORK MODELS

Office Flexible (Balanced) Model

The flexible and balanced hybrid work approach is the current leading model. Employees choose their location and hours based on their priorities for the day. For example, they may go to the office for team building, collaborating on a project, or training. If they need to focus on a project that requires concentration, they may choose to work from home or the office.

Office First ( Remote-friendly) Model

Employees are expected to work from the office but with some flexibility to choose to work remotely. With this model employees are usually given a couple days per week or a week per month for remote work.

Remote First Model

In this model working remotely is the default. It may be that the company doesn't have an office space, or the employee may live outside of the geographic area where the organization is located.

RETHINKING THE TRADITIONAL OFFICE SPACE

The hybrid workplace serves as a social anchor, a space where employee interaction is encouraged through smart design and layout. It calls for a variety of work settings to serve a multitude of purposes including team bonding, collaboration, training, social networking, break areas, and customer experiences.

DESIGN & LAYOUT TRENDS

- Open collaborative spaces for high-energy work teams
- Team huddle areas for sharing ideas
- Areas for whiteboarding sessions
- Private meeting areas
- Quiet-zones or booths for focused work
- Town hall areas equipped with video conferencing cameras and screens
- Training & mentoring rooms
- Breakrooms that provide a positive look and feel
- Community lounge and rest areas
- Wi-fi enabled spaces for remote users and guests
- Indoor/outdoor green rest areas

ERGONOMICS & FURNITURE CONSIDERATIONS:

- Ergonomic seating
- Sit-stand desking
- Mobile workstations
- Modular seating
- Café seating & tables for indoor/outdoor spaces
- Casual breakroom and lounge seating
- Larger tables for planning sessions and collaborative work
- Smaller more intimate tables that accommodate 5-6 people
- Digital and mobile boards and easels
- Mobile storage
- Lighting
- Break stations complete with espresso machines, etc.

COLLABORATION AND COMMUNICATION TOOLS FOR CONSIDERATION:

- Noise-cancelling headsets and headphones
- Laptops and monitors
- Webcams
- Conference cameras
- Microphones
- Speakers
- Conference telephones

5 Tips for Making the Hybrid Workplace a Success!

FOCUS ON HEALTH AND WELLNESS

Most companies prioritize workplace safety, ergonomics, and physical well-being, but social connections are important for our emotional well-being. When you see your teammates daily, you naturally build a connection. Encourage both office and remote employees to have regular face-to-face chats in person, or on video, to connect and build supportive working relationships.

COMMUNICATE

In the office, there are opportunities to learn important information, hear the latest news. You may pass the bulletin board in the lunch area or hear the “buzz” in the office. Ensure that remote employees are provided the same opportunities for success as those in office. Share job postings, news, and company updates with everyone at the same time so no one feels like they are out of the loop, and everyone feels like an equal. Be sure all team members are properly trained on new tools and apps, offering them support when needed. This will help keep your team happily engaged and doesn't create unfair advantages.

INVEST IN TECHNOLOGY

Invest in technology that enables seamless communication between your remote and in-office teams. Employees need to be able to communicate, collaborate and share ideas as they would in the office. Video conferencing, cloud-based workflow software, and tools such as noise-cancelling headsets, laptops, and monitors are essential to maintaining productivity.

CULTURE

A successful hybrid approach starts with clear and transparent messaging that supports the company culture. Being visible and supportive through virtual social events and town hall meetings encourages team bonding, motivation, and keeps everyone connected to the company's values and goals.

ENCOURAGE FEEDBACK

To maintain productivity and fairness, regularly encourage feedback sessions, either through an open-door policy, or other methods such as a survey tool. This is an opportunity to discuss what's working and what isn't in real time, and then make policy improvements. This sense of empowerment leads to greater employee engagement and productivity.

9 Best Practices The Hybrid Meeting

It is no longer enough to have a speaker phone in the middle of the table, with the remote employees dialing in. In-office and remote office employees need an interactive environment to collaborate and share ideas effectively. Virtual meetings offer better engagement, collaboration, and team bonding, making us happier and more productive.

USE TECHNOLOGY AND TECH TOOLS

Seeing each other's expressions connects us and improves communication. Encourage video conferencing. Use a meeting room that can accommodate a large screen so in-office and remote employees can easily interact as if they are in the same room. Alternatively, request that all the participants log in to the meeting separately from their desks. This eliminates side-conversations, allowing everyone to engage equally. Upgrade tech tools to include good microphones, speakers, noise-cancelling headphones, and webcams.

SEND THE INVITE

Include the details or meeting purpose in an email or calendar invite, along with call-in numbers, instructions, and meeting links. Set expectations ahead of the meeting by adding "cameras on" or "camera optional".

SHARE AN ADVANCE AGENDA

Successful meetings require preparation. Sharing the agenda and setting context in advance gives everyone a chance to get ready to contribute.

START AND END TIMES

Start the meetings on time even if all your participants haven't arrived. You want to respect everyone's schedules and attention spans.

SHOW UP EARLY

Never be late for a virtual meeting. Make it a habit of logging on to your call 5 minutes before the meeting begins, to adjust your camera, microphone, or sort out any technical difficulties.

READY, SET, START

Encourage everyone to go on mute when they're not speaking. Give them guidelines - when they should ask questions, or if they can jump in anytime. If it is an option, utilize text-based chat to keep remote employees engaged, inviting peer-to-peer comments, learning and sharing.

ICEBREAKER STARTER

An icebreaker encourages us to relax and forget about everything else for a few minutes. Great for team bonding it gets us talking, can generate laughter, and makes us more comfortable with each other.

LOOK INTO THE CAMERA

Look into the camera when you are speaking. Everyone on the call should receive equal attention. The goal is to make everyone feel included and less like observers.

THINK REMOTE-FIRST

When you are gathered in a conference room, it is easy to lose yourself in a conversation and forget about your remote colleagues. Ensure everyone is as involved as possible, creating an equal playing field between remote and in-office employees.

10 Best Practices Business Email Etiquette

MAKE YOUR SUBJECT LINE COUNT

Take the time to write a clear concise subject line relevant to the content of your email. This helps determine the priority of the email. Subject lines such as "Touching base" or "FYI", just make the task time-consuming for the reader. It also makes locating archived emails more challenging.

INCLUDE A SIGNATURE

Include all your contact details, including your full name, contact numbers and email address so the recipient doesn't have to go searching for it. Choose simple fonts in a 11- or 12-point size.

GREETINGS

Use professional greetings such as "Good Morning" or "Hello." "Greetings such as "Hey" or "What's up" communicates a lack of professionalism. To be more formal, you can use "Dear (insert name)".

AVOID HUMOUR

Without tone or facial expressions, humour can be misinterpreted or even offend without proper context. Humour is usually culture specific, so never include it, especially in a professional setting. Refrain from using emojis unless you have had casual email conversations where they have been used.

PROOFREAD BEFORE SENDING

Make sure that you check your grammar and spelling before hitting the send button. Not doing so may make you seem unprofessional.

INCLUDE THREADS

When referencing previous emails always include conversation threads and attachments for context.

DOUBLE-CHECK ATTACHMENTS

It is a good idea to let the recipient know you are attaching a file. If the document is large, zip it up, or include a link to a secure cloud storage file, where the recipient can safely access it.

REPLY TO EMAILS

It may be hard to answer every email you receive, but it is important to make the effort to try. If the email is a question and you don't have the answer, acknowledge the email, and let the sender know you will get back to them. The expected follow-up time to respond to an email is typically 24-48 hours.

RESIST THE REPLY ALL BUTTON

Avoid using "Reply-to-All" unless everyone on the list really needs to know. Not doing so can lead to inundating people with unnecessary emails and distracting email alerts.

KEEP IT PRIVATE

Write like nothing is confidential. Email is public. Even though an email is deleted, online services and software programs can access messages on the hard drive. Before you click "send" consider what would happen if the email got into the wrong hands.

10 Best Practices Professional Texting

QUALITY OVER QUANTITY

Staying in touch is important but don't overdo it. Strive for quality over quantity and be careful not to communicate the same message by email, text, and phone. Choose one method and wait for a response.

CRAFT YOUR MESSAGE

With a standard text message, you only have 160 characters to make your point. Be thoughtful, stick to quick, actionable messages.

IDENTIFY YOURSELF

Avoid confusion, always clearly identify yourself when you are starting a text conversation.

GO EASY ON THE ACRONYMS

Don't alienate your readers by using last week's acronyms that may be unfamiliar to them. Stick to the more mainstream ones such as EOD, LMK, and BTW.

MINIMIZE USING EMOJIS

Don't overdo it and avoid using them in serious conversations.

PROOFREAD CAREFULLY

Research has shown that our brain often works too efficiently. It helps us understand what we are reading but doesn't necessarily find our errors. For example, if you have been working on a document or a text for a while, your brain will often skim over misspelled or missing words. Don't rely on voice-to-text or auto-correct, they are prone to errors.

KEEP IT PRIVATE

Refrain from texting confidential information. Protect yourself and your customers by keeping personal data off texts.

SEND DURING BUSINESS HOURS

Respect your customer's privacy by sending and responding to texts during working hours.

RESPOND PROMPTLY

Every time you send a text you are making a deliberate connection, giving the customer an opportunity to respond and give you valuable feedback. Make sure you reply (even if it is an automated message) to keep them engaged.

GET PERMISSION. IMPORTANT!

Canada's Anti-Spam Legislation requires you to get consent before sending commercial electronic messages to Canadian recipients.

HP closed-loop recycling

When you choose Original HP Cartridges and recycle through HP Planet Partners, you become part of a more circular, sustainable system—where materials are added and reused to make new products, and no cartridges end up in a landfill.

CIRCULAR ECONOMY

VS

LINEAR ECONOMY

BRINGING USED PRODUCTS BACK TO LIFE

In HP's closed-loop process, almost every part of the toner cartridge is either recycled or reused; nothing goes to a landfill. HP combines cartridges returned through HP Planet Partners with other plastics, such as reclaimed ocean-bound plastic bottles, to make new Original HP Print Cartridges and other everyday products. Program availability varies. See hp.com/hprecycle.

END UP IN A LANDFILL

Nearly 90% of remanufactured cartridges sold will ultimately end up in a landfill because remanufacturers prefer to work with cartridges that have never been remanufactured before.<sup>4</sup>

File Folder Selector Guide

Hanging File Folders

- Most convenient way to hold information in a file drawer.
- Best to leave in the file drawer.
- Use removable interior file folders inside hanging file folders.

Box Bottom Hanging File Folders

- Expand at fold for storage of bulky records such as catalogues, large reports and printouts.

Interior File Folders

- Ideal for keeping groups of papers separated within hanging file folders.

Fastener Folders

- Perfect for keeping paperwork secure and in sequential order.

Classification Folders

- Dividers inside folders allow separation of information into different subcategories.
- Fasteners keep papers secure and in sequential order.

Expanding Pocket and Wallet Folders

- Provide ample space for larger amounts of material.

Top-Tab File Folders

- Good for keeping titles visible for quick and simple reference.
- Also ideal for desktop organizers and for storing "low active" archived files in storage boxes.

End-Tab File Folders

- Let you store files on shelves with all indexing visible, for quick filing and retrieval.
- Commonly utilized in the health care industry.

Colour-Coding

- Use different colour folders or tabs for each section of files.
- Makes it easier to quickly find folders and put them back in the right place.
- Try using colours to show importance: red for immediate attention, yellow for current files, green for background material.

Straight Cut Filing Tabs

- Run full width of file folder.
- Often used for multiple labels or extra-long headings.

Half-Cut Filing Tabs

- Run half the width of the file folder.
- Staggered in sets of two for visibility.
- Good for long headings.

Third Cut Filing Tabs

- Run a third the width of the file folder.
- Staggered in sets of three for visibility.

Fifth Cut Filing Tabs

- Run a fifth the width of the file folder.
- Staggered in sets of five for visibility.
- Ideal for numerical or alphabetical indexing.

Materials

- Manila: Thick, durable buff-coloured paper originally made from Manila hemp fibre. Provides tearing, folding and bursting strength at a popular price.
- Kraft: Strong, unbleached sulphate stock with a smooth surface and pleasing tan colour. Good for applications that require strength and rigidity.
- Pressboard: Stiff, durable, highly glazed paperboard stock of superior rigidity and strength. Made from rag or chemical wood pulp to be less acidic than board made from mechanical wood pulp.
- Polypropylene: Durable and flexible. Tear-resistant, static-free, acid-free, archival quality, protects against copy transfer.

Archival Safe Folders

- Made of lignin and acid-free stock to provide superior protection for archival storage of documents and photographs.

Anti-Microbial Folders

- Especially treated with anti-microbial agent to guard against growth of bacteria, odours, algae, mould, fungus and mildew. Ideal for medical environments or anywhere bacteria and mould control is critical.

Point System

- 9 1/2 pt: Medium weight manila for inactive files.
- 11 pt: Heavy-weight stock is the economical choice for general filing.
- 14 pt: Extra heavy-weight durable folder stock for files that get frequent use.
- 17 pt: Super heavy-weight. Common weight for guides.
- 20–25 pt: Superior weight and rigidity available in pressboard.

Suggestions

- Alphabetical organization usually works better than a complex system.
- Start with broad categories, then divide into smaller subcategories.
- Put noun first, then adjective "clients, past" not "past clients."
- Avoid vague categories such as "miscellaneous" or "other."
- Combine folders that go together under one larger heading.
- Split larger categories into smaller ones as folders get too stuffed
- Abandon categories or add new ones as situations change.
- Spell out acronyms and abbreviations.
- Use markers to show when a file has been removed, and by whom. Make an index of all your files to help eliminate overlapping or conflicting file names.

- Durable, non-water based ink
- Virtually smudge-free: great for lefties

- Point won't tear thin pages: ideal for signing multi-part forms and contracts
- Small rotating ball dispenses ink as you push pen across page

Advanced Ink System Effortless Writing

- Pens using Advanced Ink Systems provide unparalleled smoothness because the optimized delivery systems reduce friction between the tip and the paper when writing
- Unique ink viscosities (lower than typical Ball Pens, higher than Rollerball and Gel pens) allow an even flow on paper for improved colour vibrancy and brilliance on paper
- Advanced Ink Systems are convenient for lefties because they dry more quickly than most gel pen inks resulting in limited to no smearing
- Advanced Ink Systems require minimal pressure from your hand when writing, so they are ideal for all writing occasions; from short notes to essays

Porous Point Everyday Writing and Drawing

- Quick drying, water-based ink resists smearing and won't bleed through paper

A Learning to Manage Time

How much longer? For anyone who wants to measure and manage time more effectively, Time Timer® is an innovative visual timer designed to "show" the passage of time through the use of a patented coloured disk that disappears as time elapses. Unlike traditional timers that fail to make the abstract concept of time concrete, Time Timer's visual depiction of "time remaining" provides stress-free time management at work, school and home to make every moment count.
